New gas tax formula to county

Alameda County Bureau
OAKLAND — The Alameda County Board of Supervisors looked at the possibility this week of revising the Mayors' formula for allocation of gas tax funds.

The board took no action on proposals to use gas tax funds for fixed rail rapid transit systems, to use property tax rates as a criteria for allocation of those funds and to use the funds for estuary bridge maintenance but agreed to set up a committee of the supervisors and representatives of the Mayors' Conference to look at those proposals.

At present, gas tax funds are distributed to the county by the state on the basis of motor vehicle registration and road mileage, and the Mayors' formula provides for redistribution based on population and on mileage of roads and streets to the cities within the county.

Both Newark Mayor James Balentine, chairman of the Alameda County Mayors' Conference and Oakland Mayor John Reading submitted statements to the supervisors this week opposing any changes in the 20-year-old formula for allocation of gas tax funds.

Balentine urged the board to approve an extension of the Mayors' formula for another five-year period.

The supervisors also indicated they will approve the $758,000 community development grant for submission to the Department of Housing and Urban Development at next Tuesday's meeting.

That money, the first portion of a three-year program that will total $4.5 million, will be divided equally among the six Alameda County cities with populations under 50,000 and the unincorporated communities in the county.

Those cities (Pleasanton, Livermore, Albany, Emeryville, Newark and Union City) had previously submitted expenditure programs for their share of the funds to the county.

Deadline for submission of expenditure plans for the urban county grant to HUD is April 15.

Generation Gap

A bond welded by holy music and a message of hope closed at least momentarily the gap between generations Thursday and made life a little brighter for residents of the Pleasanton Convalescent Hospital while they listened to the voices of the Cherub Choir of the Presbyterian Community Church as they practiced for their performance this Palm Sunday at other such institutions. The choir is directed by Sallie Larson.

Heroin seized in drug raid

LIVERMORE — Local police and State narcotics agents arrested two men shortly before midnight, Tuesday, in what is believed to be one of the largest narcotics hauls in the Valley.

An estimated $9,000 - $10,000 worth of heroin was seized at the Holiday Inn parking lot by agents of the State Bureau of Narcotics Enforcement and Livermore police officer Dan Killeen.

The arrest followed a month of intensive investigation by State agents and the Stockton Police Department.

Gonzalo Soria Ayala, 39, a Mexican national, and Raymond Duran, Jr., 38, were arrested as Duran allegedly picked up a one pound box of heroin cut for street sale.

Police say the box contained more than 400 "balloons" of heroin, each retailing for $25 to $50 dollars on the street.

While most of the balloons were bound for Stockton, police concede some probably would have been used in the Valley.

According to Killeen, State officers followed Ayala from his San Jose apartment to the parking lot where he was met by Duran.

Duran was not buying the heroin, but, police allege, was a retailer - partner selling "more or less on consignment" for Ayala.

Ayala was being held at Livermore police headquarters, while Duran was rushed to Santa Rita jail, allegedly suffering from withdrawal pangs.

Police say Duran, who listed a Stockton address, admitted to being a heroin user for some 15 years, claiming to require seven or eight balloons per day.

The Livermore exchange was a central location for Ayala and Duran, who, police claim, had been using various local business parking lots for their weekly transactions. Police believe Ayala gave Duran one pound per week for resale in Stockton.

Killeen noted there would be "some nervous junkies in Stockton for the next couple of days."

State agents obtained a warrant to search Ayala's San Jose apartment and allegedly found two additional ounces of pure heroin (enough to make another one pound resale box) and a gun, in addition to balloons, scales and other narcotic paraphernalia.

Ayala is considered a "major connection," according to police, who receives direct shipments of heroin from Mexico. Police allege a "drop" brings the narcotics to San Jose by car, locking the goods in the trunk. After waiting a day or two to make sure it's safe, Ayala would pick up the car and drive to his apartment, considered by police a "stash pad," not his official residence.

Ayala, who is not a user, gave police a Mexican address upon arrest, and called Mexico to arrange bail.

While he claimed he needed an interpreter, police believe Ayala speaks and understands English.

Three police cars surrounded the suspects in the parking lot after Duran allegedly entered Ayala's car to pick up the goods.

Parents seek equitable Pleasanton school plan

PLEASANTON — An overflow crowd of 60 parents, predominantly from the Del Prado area, questioned Pleasanton Elementary School District board members and administration on attendance areas and pressed for an equitable solution to school needs in that area.

What was scheduled as a work session on PESD boundaries became a joint explanation and question session for the 60 or more in attendance last night.

Dr. David Carlisle, director of research and development, had stated in a report that the district would find it necessary to move students in 1975-1976 for housing purposes.

His projections showed generally that the area north of the Arroyo del Valle is overcrowded.

Some of those present Wednesday night were puzzled by the seeming paradox of "slow growth" and overcrowded schools.

Carlisle attempted to explain that the problem was district wide and not limited to one or two schools.

Introduced Wednesday night were five additional options, making a total of 11, that trustees will continue to review.

Superintendent of Schools Bruce Newlin encouraged parental assistance in coming up with another option.

"We recognize that whatever solution we come up with, we will not be able to please everybody," Newlin declared.

Carlisle said that Option Two had been recommended by Educational Coordinators, a computer firm that had been brought in to diagnose district boundaries.

Option Two would centralize overflow problems at Alisal and Walnut Grove and create more room at Harvest park.

However, it would split a portion of Pleasanton valley to Alisal and possible create community problems. It also would not solve Valley View's under utilization.

Still, some parents wondered about bonding to build a K-5 school in Del Prado. Doug Rose estimated that it could cost at least $750,000 and the district does not have any further bonding capacity for building schools.

Newlin said a final option could be decided upon by the May board meeting at the earliest.

Stunned directors move to buy land

A slightly stunned Valley Community Services District Board of Directors moved to condemn 5.5 acres of land on Davona Drive and Westwood Avenue Tuesday night after learning that the San Ramon Valley Unified School District had voted down a proposed land purchase trade - off agreement between the two.

acquisition and development on that site.

A request from Hotline — the local counseling and referral service — to receive funds from VCSU for Project Kick Back ran into a snag as it was determined that direct financial contributions from VCSU for such projects are illegal.

However, the board did instruct the staff to see what non-financial services the district might provide — such as space, for example, for offices.

The long and involved hassle between VCSU and Camp Parks has recently advanced a step further, with a communication from VCSU General Manager Paul Ryan suggesting substantial alterations in the present contract, but since further progress between representatives of Camp Parks and Alameda County, which uses much of the land, has stalled, the matter was once more tabled.

The Army Corps of Engineers, which VCSU cordially invited out of the wastewater management business in the Valley, responded by sending a letter to VCSU listing nine areas that the Corps was planning to study.

Tuesday, the board agreed that the Corps of Engineers should study four of the nine and sent off another letter in reply stating that the Corps should limit itself to studying flood control, surface and underground water supply and water quality, water oriented recreation and open space and other subjects.

The board also approved the Weed Abatement Program for 1975 after no citizen stepped forward to disagree with the plans.

A closeup of Tiffany

It is so infrequent that we, as adults, see things in the valley, or the world for that matter, in the basic manner of the child.

The most elementary problem is immediately placed in a very human perspective, free of the clouded meanings and interpretations of the adult.

A nine-year-old, for example, can see in a broken and twisted bough the need for attention and love for the perpetrator of such a vandalous act.

Animals... all animals... a green area, a trip to the library or store, things we take so much for granted... are a very big part of the child's life.

If we are indeed a product of our experiences, then perhaps the child from a complete family, with access to the outdoors, an exemplary educational system, is twice blessed.

From this may come a greater potential for sensitivity, for a feeling for the world for an awareness of the world.

That theory certainly is borne out in the person of 9-year-old Tiffany Withers, a third-grader at Alisal in Pleasanton who plans to become a forest ranger some day.

An idle childhood dream!

Perhaps. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Withers, this little lady has some words that all of us might pause for a moment and consider.

What causes someone to tear down a newly-planted tree? Or rip an antenna off a car. Is it carelessness that causes the pet owner to allow his charge to go bounding across a public park, using it as a vast comfort zone?

These are some acts that Tiffany is concerned about. But, unlike many of her peers and most adults, she searches for the reasons behind the acts.

That is when she's not taking part in a full schedule of activities that would exhaust even the most energetic young person.

Choir on Tuesdays. Brownies on Wednesdays. Bible class on Thursdays. And piano lessons on Mondays. Then there's the horseback riding lessons to start this Saturday.

And at home, waiting for her mistress' attention, are "Barney" the dog, a rabbit, hamster, guinea pig... and a four-year-old brother!

Nothing seems to escape this 9-year-old's attention, though. "There should be more activities for older kids... they seem to have nothing to do," implores Tiffany. "They should have signs on the restroom walls so that kids won't write bad words that younger ones might see."

"There should be more garbage cans by the library," continues this busy 9-year-old. "And I think maybe they should put up some playground equipment so that when we leave the library there can be something to play on while we're waiting to go home."

Tiffany also believes events at all the parks should be free. "One time we went to a soccer game there and they were asking a $1 admission."

Whoops! Did we inadvertently blow the whistle on something there?

Mom and dad, whose a captain with the Pleasanton Fire Department, are bringing the kids up to appreciate the outdoors and respect the seemingly insignificant.

Perhaps this is where the idea of becoming a forest ranger sprang from... the occasional trips to Oregon to go rock hunting.

"I'd like to move to Oregon when I grow up and be a ranger 'cause I like animals and I could help them," says the third grader in Kathryn Herlihy's class at Alisal.

When she learned recently that forest rangers must take six years of college to qualify, it didn't dim her enthusiasm.

Ah, youth! "And could I say one more thing?"

"There should be more love in the world."

"What's that old saying... from the mouths of babes!"

From exchange students

Study habits stir commentary

LIVERMORE — "American kids don't think school is a place to study."

American kids have been hearing that for years from their parents and teachers, but this time it's coming from people their own age. They are Friederike Menke of Bremen, Germany, and Masako "Judy" Amano of Shizuoka, Japan.

Friederike is 20, Judy 19, and both have been attending Livermore High School since September. They are exchange students staying with special education teacher Sam Cohen and his wife, Edythe, who works at the local Veterans Administration Hospital.

Both foreign visitors are graduates of high schools in their own countries. There, they followed a rigid routine. Four years of chemistry. Four years of physics. Five years of biology. Five of math. English from fifth grade on, an ancient language or French beginning in seventh grade, a third language in high school. Three or four hours of homework a night.

Nobody gets a choice. Both girls were awed at the enormous array of courses offered to them in Livermore. Since they had already fulfilled university requirements in their own countries, they could study what they wanted.

Friederike reveled in stagecraft, pottery, graphic arts and photography classes. She also took beginning Spanish and advanced French. She plans to enter an international language school after returning to Germany next month.

Judy plans to work for her father in Japan as an interpreter and hostess for a sister city exchange program her hometown has with Richmond, Calif. So she applied herself to learning American history and politics at Livermore High, with a chorus class thrown in for fun. Fun is something neither girl usually associates with school. "American kids are always chasing something fun," Judy observes unbelievably. "Sometimes I really can't understand it."

Neither can Friederike, who says American teen-agers look a lot older than their overseas counterparts, but act much younger.

Family life here, too, is different from what the girls knew at home. Both feel family ties are stronger in Germany and Japan, commitment to other members of the family is stronger while "neighborliness" of the type Californians prize is not common.

Judy lives with her parents, two younger sisters and maternal grandparents in her seaside city. It's expected, she explains, that elderly parents move in with the eldest daughter.

"My parents are more modern, and they don't really expect to move in with me some day," says the diminutive, dark-eyed visitor.

"But probably they will, when they get really old."

Both girls were encouraged to make their own decisions about taking the plunge and traveling to the United States for their extended visits. "Friendship and respect from both sides" is the way Friederike describes the relationship between herself and her family, which includes her mother, father, an 18-year-old brother and a sister, 16.

Tradition and religion make a stronger bond between parents and children in Germany than here, she observes. "I really think it's worthwhile. Not so many people marry so young and the divorce rate is much less. Germans wait until they are mature enough to make decisions."

People put more into their homes, not materially but in other ways to make them comfortable and inviting, says the self-assured young visitor.

While Friederike is staying at the Cohens' spacious home on Norma Way, Livermore, 18-year-old Wendy Cohen is visiting Bremen and living at the Menkes' home. It's part of a new exchange program operated by the Kiwanis Club. Another local student, David Dodd, is also spending a year in Germany.

Despite the difference in school regimes, Wendy is reportedly doing well in her German schoolwork except for some trouble with physics. Thanks to her Livermore High training, she arrived in the foreign country speaking German very well, Friederike reports.

Meanwhile, Judy is on a different kind of exchange program, operated by Cohen himself. Japanese families pay a $100 administrative fee to Sam for finding a host home in this area. They pay the host family $80 a month for board, and cover their child's incidental expenses, so there is no cost to the host family.

Students like Judy may plan to go to a junior college or a local university (although they must pay the high non-resident fee) or they may enroll free at the local high school. Most choose to do that, feeling the experience of studying American history and English is challenging enough.

Cohen's part of the deal is to screen families. He is constantly in search of homes with children close to the Japanese guest's age, plus an extra bed. He and his wife have hosted foreign students for several years and feel it's an enriching experience not to be missed.

The Cohens' first trip to Japan was for Expo in 1970. Since then, he has been back once and plans to return this summer.

"Japanese-American Student Cultural Exchange" is the name of Cohen's one-man enterprise, and his home at 5120 Norma Way is headquarters for inquiries.

Forming new friendships and gaining new insight into other cultures is what a cultural exchange has to offer the host. What does it offer the young guests who leave their homelands and families and friends for the better part of a year?

Judy and Friederike, coming from countries thousands of miles apart, agreed completely on that one.

"It's helped me a lot to grow up," "Everything's completely up to you." "There's trust." "Improvement of myself." "Now, I feel strong."

Survey favors greyhounds

A greyhound racing survey done for the Golden State Greyhound Racing Association purports to show that California citizens believe pari-mutuel greyhound racing should be legalized in this state.

The margins ranged from 2-1 to 3-1, according to George L. Hardie, president of Golden State. The poll was conducted by the Field Research Corp. of San Francisco.

As Hardie was releasing the results, the author of the bill (AB455), South Gate Democrat Leon Ralph, told capital police he has received three anonymous letters threatening his life if the bill passes.

Ralph said he had no reason to think the threats came from horse racing interests, who are fighting the bill. He said he hoped to work with them on amendments to the measure.

The FBI is now investigating the case, a bureau spokesman said.

Hardie said the survey shows a great number of young people expressed a preference for the legalization of greyhound racing and indicated that they would attend the sport.

Of the 1,004 responding, 59.9 per cent favored legalization and 26.8 per cent were opposed. The highest percentages in favor came in the 18 to 29 and 30 to 39 age groups.

A greater percentage of those responding in Northern California favored legalization as opposed to those in Southern California. Broken down to areas, 53.1 per cent favored legalization in the bay area while 29.3 per cent indicated opposition.

Of those who favored legalization statewide, a third checked "horse racing is legal, why not dogs." Another third checked "adds revenue to the state and helps the economy."

Motherhood an honorable vocation

By LILY AULT

"There is no greater or nobler vocation than that of being a mother," stated Mrs. Ruth Travis, well-known lecturer on the importance of the woman's role in the home. Mrs. Travis was guest speaker at the Tri-Valley Mother's "T" Monday.

"Being a mother is a lot of vocations in one. You are diplomat, artist, teacher, housekeeper, humorist, chauffeur and nameless other vocations," she informed the attentive audience. She further advised the ladies not to let anyone ever tell their work is unimportant as it is "extremely important."

Many women, according to Mrs. Travis, think it is necessary to be liberated in order to achieve a feeling of fulfillment. They want to be released from home chores and responsibility. They need the feeling of being part of the business world.

'Motherhood should be seen as a high, honorable vocation'

"Motherhood," she said, "is much more important as you are building a life, not just a business for someone else or yourself. Building that life for an individual is the greatest responsibility in the world," she continued. "Being a mother needs to be looked at as a high, honorable vocation."

In regard to the husband-wife relationship in the home, Mrs. Travis told the group "God likes to put different temperaments together." It can be difficult, she admitted, but partners can work together and compliment each other.

One thing she stressed to the group was, "never try to make your husband as you would like him to be. Accept him for what he is and has to offer." We all learn from each other," she said. "Never contradict or correct him in public."

"Anything worth doing," she stated, "is going to have problems difficult to overcome." Outside help is needed and to the Travis family, that outside help comes from God. "We have taught our children to love God with all their heart," Mrs. Travis further stated that they do not try to force their children in any one direction, but teach them to "listen to what God wants them to do."

The group was also advised by Mrs. Travis that husband and wife should be in agreement in rearing their children.

"If you disagree on something," she said, "don't discuss it in front of the children, wait until they are not around and then work out the situation or make a compromise on what should be done in the future."

According to Mrs. Travis (she backed the statement up with Chapter 13, Verse 24 of the Book of Proverbs): "Discipline is love."

"Never think your child is too young to learn," she said. "The sooner you teach your children respect for authority the easier it will be on them as they grow up."

According to Mrs. Travis, a child wants to know basically two things: what are his limitations and who is going to enforce them. If limitations are not spelled out and enforced consistently, the child becomes frustrated. Giving a child discipline teaches him to become self-sufficient and a respectful adult.

Parents should "love their children and meet their needs," but not give them everything they want. Rules should be identified and the child should be told what will be done if not followed.

"Then follow through," advises Mrs. Travis. It should not be necessary to keep repeating what is expected of the child. Unnecessary repeating becomes nagging. Advise, warn and then follow through with consistency and love. Give the child reason to regret breaking the rules.

Be willing to admit to the child you may not always be right, but you are the boss. The child may not agree with your action, and he has the right to disagree, but he must obey because you are in charge of him.

After disciplining your child because of misbehavior, it is a good policy to let him know it was his action you did not like, but that you will always love him. Cuddling and holding the child and discussing the situation helps him to learn faster what you expect of him. Make him want to do what is right because of your love for him and not for fear of what you will do if he misbehaves.

The speaker offered these Guidelines in administering discipline:

1. Respect. If a child learns to respect authority the parents job is made easier and the child has less difficulty in growing up in today's society.

2. Communication. Control of communication does not necessarily mean agreement. It is understanding. Accept the child as he is, faults and all. Treat him as a person. Let him know certain behavior will not be tolerated because you care and love him. If the child is allowed to do something one day and the next day he is forbidden to do it, he becomes confused and resentful.

3. Logical or natural consequences. Sometimes the best way to discipline children. If a child is repeatedly told something will happen if he does it and he does not listen, let him go ahead and learn by doing.

An example Mrs. Travis gave was that of a child insisting on eating soap would make him sick. Finally when they saw the child was not listening, they let him eat the soap. He became ill as warned, but he never ate soap again.

Another example is if a child is continuously getting up late and missing the bus or late for school. Let him be late. Don't start by giving him a ride every time he's late.

There are, as stated by Mrs. Travis, exceptions to all rules, but don't let adult pride enter into the picture when making the exception.

4. Proper balance. Don't let materialistic things creep up on you. Deprive a child of a pleasure once in a while. Don't over-indulge him in gifts. If something is anticipated for a long time, greater pleasure is derived when it is obtained.

5. Maintain balance between love and discipline. Don't over discipline by giving vent to your own anger or hold revenge. On the other hand, don't be too permissive and allow the child to do as he pleases.

An ideal situation for the child is having both a mother and father. However, it is still possible to be an effective parent with just one adult.

Success with mother and father in rearing children is harmony between parents. Disharmony between mother and father creates problems for the child. The best answer for success as parents is love and support of each other.

Mothers should teach their children the right attitude toward their father. One's own behavior toward a partner will become the child's attitude toward that parent.

A check list for a wife's behavior toward her husband includes: 1. What is my attitude toward my husband and does it show? 2. Do I undermine his authority? 3. Do I try to adapt to his way even though I may not always agree it is the right way? 4. Do I contradict and criticize him in front of the children? — 5. Do I pray daily for my husband? "God, you have got to change that man!" is not praying for him," stated Mrs. Travis. 6. Do I go out of my way to make myself attractive to him? 7. Do I take homemaking seriously?

The parent-child relationship is one that is temporary, Mrs. Travis informed the ladies. Wife - husband is a permanent relationship.

Mrs. Travis told the ladies that they should not become so wrapped up in their children that they dread the day they leave home. "Instead," she commented, "you should be looking forward to the day they are on their own and you and your husband can go on that second honeymoon."

Mrs. Travis obtained the following statistics from a magazine she read recently:

There are one out of three divorces when there is no religion in the home; one out of 57 divorces when church is attended regularly and one out of 500 divorces when Bible reading and prayer takes place in the home on a regular basis.

Easter Seal drive on TV

A 20-hour telethon to raise funds for the annual Bay Area Easter Seal campaign begins Saturday at 8 p.m. on television station KTVU, Channel 2.

Robert Q. Lewis will host the program live and provide entertainment along with co-hosts Bill King, Rick Barry, Del Courtney, Mary Hubbard, Dick Sadler and others.

Also on the show which continues until 4 p.m. Sunday will be Mr. and Mrs. Robert DeBolt of Piedmont, guardians of several handicapped children.

Viewers will be asked to call the Alameda County Society for Crippled Children and Adults at 836-2244, and pledge donations for Easter Seals.

Don't boil Easter eggs!

Easter eggs should not be boiled!

That may come as news to some who are getting ready for the egg-decorating holiday. Home economists point out that eggs should be simmered gently over low heat for about 20 minutes.

After cooking, pour off the hot water and fill the pan with cold water so that the shells will peel off easily when the eggs are ready to be eaten.

This tip is from the United States Stamping Company, a major manufacturer of ceramic on steel cookware.

Martin - Faubion

Patricia Lynn Martin of San Jose and Joseph Faubion of Redwood City exchanged marriage vows in a March 8 ceremony at Christ Lutheran Church in San Lorenzo.

Patricia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Martin of Pleasanton. Both Patricia and Joseph attend San Jose State University. She is employed as assistant manager of The Gap in San Jose.

The couple is residing at 298 South 18th St. in San Jose.

Whitaker - Matthews

The Pleasanton Presbyterian Church was the setting for the exchange of marriage vows between Kimberly Ann Whitaker and James E. Matthews, both of Pleasanton.

The Rev. Robert Vogt officiated, with Maid of Honor Cheryl Whitaker and Best Man Pete Leary. The bride was attended by Carol Brown, Laura Matthews and flower girl Katie Whitaker. Ushers were Bill Steiner and Steve Matthews.

A reception at the San Ramon Country Club in Dublin followed the ceremony. The couple is residing in Merced.

Kim is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Whitaker of Pleasanton. Jim, a member of the U.S. Air Force, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Matthews, also of Pleasanton. Both are graduates of Amador High School.

Turn Thursday blues into cleaner valley

What are you doing on Thursdays?

If your answer is "nothing much" there is a job for you as a volunteer at the Valley Ecology Center, 401 S. K St. in Livermore.

The Center needs people to man its phones on Thursdays, anytime between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. According to Information Center Chairman Mary Ellen Ludemann, even two hours a month will help.

Center volunteers answer questions regarding recycling and organic gardening; help people wanting to use the center's resource materials (they include newspaper clippings, pamphlet collections, some books, free literature and back issues of several conservation journals); sell books, recycled paper, note cards and posters, and help organize the center.

Those with time to help should contact Mrs. Ludemann at 443-1629 or at the Center, 443-LIVE, which has office hours on Thursdays only.

Easter fair Saturday

The Children's Easter Fair, the major fund raising event of the year for the Toyland Chapter of Children's Home Society, will be held Saturday, March 22 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Livermore Recreation Center.

A special feature will be the Banana Splits appearing in person at 12:15 p.m., 1:15 p.m. and 2:15 p.m.

Tickets are available at the door for $1.50 for adults and $1 for children. Advance tickets at reduced prices may be obtained by calling 455-4979.

Juricic - Morasch

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Juricic of Morton, Ill. announce the engagement of their daughter Kim Marie to William Carl Morasch of Pleasanton. Kim, a 1974 graduate of Amador High School, attends Illinois Central College. Her parents are former Pleasanton residents. William is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon W. Morasch of Pleasanton, and a 1971 graduate of Amador High School. He attends Chabot College, and is employed at the International Paper Co., San Leandro. The couple plans a June 28 wedding at Morton, Ill.

WINNING ARTWORK

'The Carpet Weaver' by Haydee Pastor earned an honorable mention in the oil painting category. The art show continues through March 29 at Dublin's Liberty House: Monday-Friday 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., Saturday 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Sunday noon to 5 p.m.

ART - IN - ACTION

Carl Anders, Valley Artists member, reveals the secret of success in oil painting in a demonstration of his techniques. He returns for a second demonstration Saturday at noon, with Claire Haratani in watercolor techniques at 10:30 a.m. Shirley Miller in Sumi brush painting, and Olive Naylor in charcoal portraits appear at 1 p.m. Sunday features Terri Bunce in pen-ink Victorians at noon, with Mary Toman in watercolor, Kathy Jahn in oil, and Chuck Rose in acrylic at 1 p.m.

I wish it was possible to get as enthusiastic over the Academy Awards as I have in the past. The spark, however, is not parent to the flame in 1974. The candidates and nominations fail to stir an interest and I see no reason to get excited.

Perhaps the most damning criticism is to say a performance or a picture is adequate. Well, I have found most film just adequate in the preceding 12 months.

"Chinatown" will probably be the big contender in many categories this time around. This is a sad commentary on motion picture production for the year. "Chinatown" is the essence of mediocrity cleverly disguised with violence and sensationalism to carry the day when its unrealistic representation of the 1930 era bogs down.

Jack Nicholson is 'effective' but certainly not outstanding unless you consider the handicap of having to play the anti-hero for six reels with a bandaged nose as something tour-de-force. Art Carney was far better in "Harry and Tonto," but I have an uncomfortable feeling political elements within the industry and the flackery of high finance will take 'jack' over 'art' this day.

There have been other years when things were at a minimum and awards went to individuals and pictures which would not have passed muster in other years. It is one of the weaknesses of the system that 'Oscar' can be awarded, not for what he was meant to be — a symbol of creative success, but for commercial reasons. A film garnering an Academy Award can have its value at the boxoffice boosted by several million dollars. The name of the game is cash in the register. Occasionally,

SETTING THE SCENE

it is very nice when a little appreciation of talent gets into the act.

We can be thankful that we're human and fallible. Small disappointments, like "Chinatown" winning an award, can be forgotten in the unhappiness of finding out that ratings indicate ABC's "Love Among the Ruins" starring Katherine Hepburn and Laurence Olivier garnered less than 30 percent of TV audiences in its time slot.

This figure means 'el floppo' and it is especially discouraging when such a powerhouse presentation can be beaten out by a recently cancelled "Archer" which was limping along opposite the intelligent and literate drama.

"Love Among the Ruins" was a tasty feast, however, for anyone who joined the 30 percent and partook of the theatrical banquet. The 2-hour drama was interrupted only once for a commercial message

'Nostalgia Night' symphony gala

A "Nostalgia Night" with dinner and dancing to sentimental tunes, casino games and silent movies is planned by the Livermore-Amador Symphony Guild April 12 at the Livermore Barn.

The guild is anticipating a lively and entertaining evening featuring Dale Wolford's "Midnight Reflections" band for those who would support the symphony with a $2.50 donation per person.

A limited number of tickets is available through Norma Hatfield of Livermore at 447-2530, or Bev Hamlin of Pleasanton at 846-1455.

World instruments on display at WC

Musical instruments representing diverse cultures around the world are on display at the Civic Arts Gallery, 1641 Locust St., Walnut Creek, beginning this week.

The instruments include the slit-log drum from New Guinea, a skull drum from Tibet, a bull-roarer from North America, a didgeridoo from Australia, a zither from Africa, and a great variety of other instruments. The collection is on loan from the Lowie Museum of Anthropology at the University of California at Berkeley through May 3. The display also features tape recordings of the music produced by the instruments, a slide show and documentary photos.

Also at the CA Gallery is an exhibition of drawings by 40 contemporary California artists, some nationally and internationally recognized. Organized by Betty Turnbull, curator of the Newport Harbor Art Museum, the exhibit continues through May 3.

The gallery is open Tuesday through Saturday from noon to 5 p.m., and Fridays between 7 and 9 p.m. at no charge. For information on group tours, call Gloria Marshall at 935-3300, Ext. 257.

Civic chorus evening

The 80-member Livermore Civic Chorus, directed by Nico Snel, Jr., appears in concert Sunday, March 23 at St. Bartholomew's Church in Livermore.

Season ticket holders should note the change in date and place for the concert.

Featured in the 8:15 p.m. performance is Bob Kruzer, 10-year-old soprano from Walnut Creek, in Leonard Bernstein's choral suite "The Chichester Psalms." Composed in 1965 for the annual music festival at Chichester Cathedral in Sussex, England, the Biblical Psalms are sung in Hebrew.

Elizabeth Seccombe play the harp accompaniment. Soprano Kathy Streeter and bass Walt Davies of Livermore, alto Marilyn Sessions of Dublin, and tenor Kerry Layden of Lafayette are featured soloists in the LCC rendition of Mozart's "Requiem Mass in D Minor." Writing the last notes of the requiem from his deathbed the work was performed at his funeral). Mozart anticipated Romanticism in the style of this work.

Admission to the program is $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for students and seniors.

L-A Symphony joins civic chorus April 6

The Livermore-Amador Symphony is planning a joint concert with the Livermore Civic Chorus April 6 at St. Augustine's Catholic Church in Pleasanton.

Selections of the program include "The Winter's Past" by Barlow, Mozart's "Requiem Mass in D Minor" and "Serenade for Tenor Horn and Strings" by Britten, featuring tenor Nile Norton, and Robert Williams at the horn.

Tickets for the 8:15 p.m. program will be available at the door. For information call 447-2530.

Student in art exhibit

Ted Diaz of Livermore is one of several student artists from the California College of Arts and Crafts to participate in a multi-media exhibit at Laney College library in Oakland April 1-15.

The show opens with a public reception at 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 1, and continues Mondays through Thursdays from 8 a.m. to 8:45 p.m., and Fridays from 8 a.m. to 3:45 p.m. The library is located at Tenth and Fallon Streets.

The exhibit is part of a seminar conducted by Bay Area painter Jason Schoener, director of the Fine Arts Division of CCAC.

'Dames'

Saturday night performance of the Pleasanton Playhouse production of "Dames at Sea," is sold out.

Seats are still available for the final performance Sunday at 7 p.m. at Veterans' Memorial Building For tickets at $3 for adults and $2 for students and seniors, contact the Pleasanton Recreation Department at 846-3202.

Potpourri of musicals

Highlights from popular shows such as "My Fair Lady," "Oklahoma," "Fiddler on the Roof," and "The Rothschilds" will be part of the musical potpourri offered by Producers Associates, Inc. at Chabot College-Community Auditorium Saturday, March 22.

The 8 p.m. performance of Producers Associates, Inc., producers of Woodminster Summer Musicals, is sponsored by the Eden Chapter Hadassah. Featured in the program are Hank McGuckin and Sharon McElroy, who appeared in 1974 productions of "Desert Song" and "Brigadoon."

Tickets at $3 per person are available at Macy's, Bayfair and Sears' stores, Southland ticket offices and at Chabot College Community Auditorium the night of the performance.

Pianist in recital at Chabot

Lea Neiman, Bay Area pianist and Ohlone College music instructor, will be featured in an April 6 recital at the Chabot College-Community Auditorium in Hayward.

A native of Israel, she has performed with the Fremont Philharmonic Orchestra, the East Bay Youth Orchestra, and has been heard over Berkeley radio station KPFA.

Repertoire for the 2 p.m. concert includes "Prelude and Fugue in B Minor" by Bach, a Clementi sonata, Hindemith's "Sonata No. 3," "Reflets dans l'eau" by Debussy and Chopin's "Ballad No. 4 in F Minor."

Tickets at $3 per person are available at the Chabot College bookstore. For information contact Mrs. Helena Kascher at 538-4810 weekday afternoons and evenings.

For Thursday, March 20, 1975
ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't be too bossy around the house today or you may have a minor rebellion on your hands. Consider others' rights.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You'll have trouble making big decisions today because you tend to see things the way you'd like them to be, rather than as they are.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20) This is not a good day to assume new obligations or to make purchases that put you in debt. Live within your means.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) It's unlikely you'll achieve your goals now unless you stick closely to a game plan you've thought out carefully. Don't swap horses in midstream.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You must be persistent today if you want to be victorious. There are large stumbling blocks you must hurdle to succeed.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your first ideas are not your best; in fact, they'll get you off the track. Evaluate plans several times before acting.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't depend too heavily on allies to carry the ball today. Success comes to you only through your intense effort.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Much of your time will be wasted early in the day on frivolous interests. Later, your efforts are more productive.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Shun speculative or risky ventures today. No one is about to give you something for nothing. Play it smart.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Tell it as it is. Others will be able to perceive quickly if you're giving them a snow job.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You're not as practical as you should be about your financial affairs. A good day to hide the checkbook and zip-up your purse.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be careful or you'll make a social commitment you'll later regret. It will be difficult to excuse yourself gracefully.

your birthday

March 20, 1975
You will be rich in new friends and acquaintances this year in a whirl of exciting events. Some short pleasure trips are also probable.

By Oswald & James Jacoby
When Tristram de Lyonesse arrived at King Arthur's court, he was thought to be a country bumpkin. But it did not take him long to prove himself with sword, lance and shield. He became one of the two or three most feared Knights of the Round Table.
It took him a trifle longer to show that he could handle himself just as well at the bridge table. A few hands such as today's did the trick for him.
He sat East and as any one can plainly see, South is cold for seven hearts with all

In the bag

LOTS OF GOOD stiff competition at the Livermore-Pleasanton Rod and Gun Club for the Running Deer Shoot over the weekend. A bit of shower in late afternoon didn't dampen the spirits of the shooters. Tops in their class were the following:

Distinguished - Cal Rowe of Eagle Rock Club, 46; Ken Culp of Livermore-Pleasanton Club, 45.

Master - Vic McBride, Livermore, 37; Mark Brown, Eagle Rock, 34.

Expert - Dave Saito Jr., Eagle Rock, 41; Bill Graham, Livermore, 38.

Sharpshooter - Darrell Barton, Livermore, 34; Doug Lane, Eagle Rock, 32.

Marksman - Chris Haight, Livermore, 26; Gary Bamsch, Eagle Rock, 26.

Chris topped Gary on the shootoff. Sharpshooter Darrell Barton lives in Sacramento and comes down to shoot with his buddy, Bob Keller. They always have a beer bet going and so Bob had to pony up the beer.

Dave Saito Jr. turned in a real good group for the Bench Rest. All five shots were scored for a group size of .469. It takes a good rifle and a good hand at shooting to turn in a group that small. Congratulations, Dave.

Results of the Off-Hand Rifle Shoot include: Master - Bill Elscholt, Livermore, 37; Expert - Jerry Mann, Livermore, 42; Jerry is an out-of-towner who belongs to the Livermore-Pleasanton Club; Marksman - Karl Mossinger, Livermore, score 35.

Vic McBride reports the Iron Chicken drew a lot of shooters. He was kept busy resetting the targets.

Of the five clubs represented, the following total scores are presented: (weekend score in parentheses): Bay Sportsman, accumulated score, 253 (82); Eagle Rock, 551 (187); Fremont, 409 (126); Livermore-Pleasanton 578 (193); and Tri-Valley, 446 (135).

Bill Caldwell says there will be one more competition shoot this season, and it will be Sunday, April 20. Hope to see you out there.

GARY BELL, chairman of the Hunter Safety Committee, reports it is time to sign up for the next hunter safety course. You can sign up at Arnew's Custom Saddlery, 153 North L, Livermore; or Dom's Surplus, 56 South Livermore Ave., Livermore.

MARCH 23 will be the big day for the ham and bacon shoot at the Livermore-Pleasanton Rod and Gun Club. Shooting will begin about 10 a.m. Want to have some real fun shooting with your buddies? Then form your own squads. All shooters welcome: sub-juniors, juniors, ladies, men, and veterans (this means those 62 or over). There is also a pro squad. So come on out; bring the whole family, some friends, and plenty of ammo.

IF YOU ARE INTERESTED in fair gun legislation, you might wish to join the National Rifle Association, Ducks Unlimited, or the California Rifle and Pistol Club. Your contribution, big or little, will help to provide our legislators with your viewpoint.

IF YOU'VE GOT a prohibited wild animal around the house, you're going to have to get a permit from the Department of Fish and Game to keep it. Besides, the DFG is going to have a say in how you care for it.

Under terms of Senate Bill 1766, which went into effect Jan. 1, the importation and possession of virtually all wild mammals is prohibited except where the owner can demonstrate that the animal was legally acquired before then.

If you can prove that this is the case, you can apply for a permit to possess the animal on payment of a nonrefundable $25 application fee.

The application form, which is available from any DFG office, calls for such information as when and where and from whom you obtained the animal and where you will keep it. The DFG will inspect your holding facilities to make certain they meet standards before issuing the permit.

Authored by Senator Peter P. Behr of San Rafael, the law is designed to discourage the capturing of wild animals in foreign countries by prohibiting their importation into the state.

Until the law went into effect, the importation, transportation and possession of certain wild animal species were prohibited or severely restricted only because of the potential danger of such animals to native fish and wildlife or agriculture or for reasons of public health.

But the old law did not take into account such animals as monkeys, wolves, lions and tigers — species which posed no danger to native wildlife or crops or people. The Behr bill expanded the list of prohibited animals to include many species for their own protection.

Exempted from provisions of the new law are public zoological gardens and scientific institutions.

Gaels sputter, lose in eighth

With one eye glued to the opposition, the other to a fouled-up pregame schedule, Dublin dropped a 6-5 baseball decision to Fremont of Oakland yesterday in extra innings at Dublin.

The Gaels rattled out 10 base hits, and had the potential tying and winning runs in scoring position in the eighth inning.

It was a losing battle, however, as Dublin had to combat the equally proficient Tiger bats with a pitching staff spread thin by the schedule.

Because of earlier rainouts, the Gaels were playing their second game in two days. They have two more before the week ends. The glut of games is forcing coach Tom Mullican to conserve his pitchers.

Mullican had to go with relief pitcher Jim Orman for the first five innings yesterday, and though he battled gamely in crisis after crisis, he was raked for five runs and ten hits.

Robin Sherwood absorbed the loss, when an error, two hits and a stolen base combined to produce Fremont's final run in the eighth inning.

The offense is expected to counter-balance any faults the Gaels might have, and it nearly proved true yesterday. Dublin fought from behind twice against Fremont starter Jim Attiway and his replacement Don Dixon. Steve Grant paced the Gaels with two doubles and a single and a run batted in. John Prieto and Dave Anderson both had two hits.

Grant and Dave Woy presented Dublin with a chance to tie the game in the eighth inning. Grant lashed his second double with one out, then Woy singled him to third and succeeded in stealing second base.

Here Dublin fell down with a typical pregame blunder. A sign was missed somewhere along the line, and next batter Matt Billy dropped a bunt in front of the plate. The move caught both baserunners flatfooted and resulted in a harmless putout at first base.

Pinch-hitter Kurt Rohren sent a line drive to right field to end the game.

Fremont jumped to a 1-0 lead in the first inning against Orman, and followed with two-run outbursts in the third and fourth innings. Kevin Moss was the Tigers' big bat with three hits and four runs batted in.

Dublin actually led, 3-1, after an inning. The Gaels used three walks, two errors, and hits by Prieto and Anderson for their first inning runs.

Trailing 5-3 heading into the bottom of the fourth inning, they scored two runs to tie. With one out, Prieto reached base on an error and motored home on Anderson's triple to right field. Grant followed with a double to knock in the final run.

Dublin had numerous scoring opportunities beyond that, but stranded 13 people on the bases. In the second inning, the Gaels loaded the bases with nobody out, but were frustrated by a surprising Fremont tactic.

Though it was early in the game, Fremont pulled its infield in tight in hopes of cutting off the lead runner at the plate. Three straight Gael batters chopped balls right at the drawn-up infield, and each time the lead runner was cut down.

'Poke hurlers baffle Trojans with no-hitter

Three Livermore High pitchers combined for a no-hitter yesterday afternoon as the Cowboys bottled up the visiting Del Valle Trojans, 6-0.

Secondbaseman Chris Gaudio was the only Trojan to reach base in the contest, walking in the fourth inning, as Del Valle did not get the ball out of the infield once during the game.

Keith Richardson started for the 'Pokes and went three perfect innings (four strikeouts) before giving way to Rick Maniz, who hurled two hitless innings, striking out four.

John Jansen mopped up the final two innings for the Livermore nine and struck out five of the six batters he faced.

While six of Livermore's hits came off the rather ineffective Rohrer, leaving the jury still out on the Cowboy offense, their seems to be little doubt that the rotation of Richardson, Maniz and Jansen unleashed for seven innings at a time will be a frightening fact of life for opposing EBAL coaches this spring.

Despite Richardson's impressive fastball and control, Cowboy coach Kevin Drake was not tempted to leave the husky righthander in past the three innings he had planned for him.

"We've got a lot of games coming up this week and I don't have a lot of pitchers, so I can't afford to let anyone go six or seven innings," a subdued Drake said afterward.

The Trojans came up with several partial-explanations for the loss.

"It's our first game and everyone's nervous as hell," said centerfielder-pitcher Greg Hilderbrand before the contest.

All of the Trojans' previously scheduled games were rained out. According to junior pitcher Jim Weeks, who had the Trojans' only perfect inning of mound work, setting down the 'Pokes in order in the sixth, DV has not had batting practice consistently.

He added, "These guys all look older than us, too. We're still shaving our peach fuzz and half their team has mustaches and sideburns."

The only one hit, a double by Maniz leading off the fourth, was recorded during the last five innings as Livermore exploded to get all its runs off DV starter Mike Rohrer in the first two frames.

Wayne Perry got things off to a rousing start for the hosts in the bottom of the first. The lead-off hitting shortstop smashed a drive to deep left that went for a home run when Trojan left fielder Bob Hilson fell in an attempt to catch the ball.

Dan Wood followed with a walk and moved to second when Rich Palmer grounded out to first. Robin Wilkerson then got the first of two RBI with a ground single to left.

In the second, Kenny Watts led off with a blow that Hilderbrand first misjudged, then slipped chasing for a triple. With one out, Richardson was safe on a dribbler to the left side of the infield and Wayne Perry drew a walk.

Wood then shot a ground-rule double under the groundskeepers shed in center field, scoring two. Hilderbrand and rightfielder Les Williams were wise to let the ball go as, had they fielded it, three runs would easily have scored.

It made little difference in the long run, however, as Palmer immediately swatted a sacrifice fly to right that ended the day's scoring.

While not challenging Livermore's awesome display, the DV relief corps proved to be somewhat capable, blanking the 'Pokes the rest of the way.

Hilderbrand got the Cowboys out in the third on one strikeout pop-up and a pick-off move.

Junior Jon Towers, making his varsity debut, then shut the 'Pokes out for two innings before Weeks took over.

Brother combo leads Gaels by MV swimmers

The Steinhoff brothers, Mark and Eric, turned the Dublin Monte Vista swim meet into a family affair as the Gaels breezed to a 92-78 win in EBAL swimming yesterday in Dublin.

The Steinhoff's combined for four first-place finishes and a pair of seconds as the Gaels improved their EBAL record to 1-1. The loss dropped the Mustangs to 0-2 on the year.

The Gaels won the first event, the 200yard medley relay, and never looked back. Stew Burke, Victor Hinojosa, Eric Steinhoff and Gerry Tenborg joined forces to clock a 1:57.6 showing.

Scott Elliot was one of the few bright spots for the Mustangs, as he captured a trio of events.

Elliot took the 50 free with a 23.9 clocking, and easily outdistanced the field in winning the 100 back with a fine 1:04.0 mark.

The Monte Vista senior teamed up with Doug Parker, Steve Czekala and Kevin McBride as the Mustangs won the last event of the day, the 400 free relay. The Monte Vista foursome was clocked in 3:41.3.

Hinojosa won a pair of events for the Gaels, the 100 breast stroke in a time of 1:13.6, and was a member of the victorious 200 medley relay team.

Warriors in playoffs next week

Playoffs should begin late next week in the Western Basketball Association, the league office announced today.

Four clubs in the five-team league will be involved, including Pleasanton's Tri-Valley Warriors, who finished in second place, 10 percentage points behind league leader Stockton.

The other playoff participants will be Sacramento and San Jose.

Tri-Valley will enter the post-season play with two of the WBA's top 10 scorers, Johnny Burks and Girard Chatman.

Burks, of USF, averaged 18.4 points per game during the regular season to finish seventh in the scoring race. Chatman, an All-WBA performer a season ago, was 10th at 16.3. He was also third in rebounding with 12.3 per game.

Dave Lee of Martinez led the league in shooting with a 27.7 per game average. John Skinner of San Jose was second at 23.3.

Martinez' Bob Presley, formerly of Cal Berkeley, was the top rebounder at 13.0 per game.

Victories in two late events preserved a comfortable margin for San Ramon, as the Wolves nosed out Livermore, 89-81, in EBAL dual swimming competition yesterday in Danville.

Leading 69-57 with three events to go, and already having conceded the final race, the Wolves would need strong performances in both the 100 back and 100 breast to lock up the meet.

(The SR 400 free relay team had already scratched, giving Livermore an automatic 12 points.)

In the backstroke event, the Cowboys' Paul Lohmann got off well and established a slight lead over SR's Mark Sucksdorf. Both swimmers traded numerous quick glances, sometimes giving the appearance of twin bobble-head dolls in the water.

It was Sucksdorf's head that prevailed, however, as the Wolf swimmer caught Lohmann at the final turn and inched ahead in the homestretch. Sucksdorf was timed in 1:03.9, Lohmann 1:04.0.

San Ramon's Tom Horner was next, as he opened up a quarterpool lead on Livermore's Brian Hickman and won going away in the 100 breast. Horner was clocked in 1:09.3.

Sucksdorf's crucial backstroke victory was his second of the day, as he had defeated Lohmann earlier with a 1:02.5 performance in the 100 fly.

Sucksdorf also helped the Wolves get off on a winning note, leading the medley relay contingent.

The Cowboys won five events, including two double-victories by Jim Happe and Jim Volponi. Happe nipped SR's Terry Gilliland by five tenths as he won the 200 free in 2:02.0.

Volponi followed shortly thereafter with a 2:19.0 clocking to take the 200 individual medley.

The Cowboy tandem did it again later in the meet, as Happe captured the 100 free in 55.6 and Volponi followed a 5:21.9 to take the 500 free.

Craig McHugh took the 50 free in 24.9 to round out the list of winners for the home team.

Wendy Morrison led a San Ramon sweep of the one-meter diving competition, scoring 176.75 points.

Livermore's frosh-soph unit turned things around by defeating the Wolves, 92-62.

The Cowboys won only three frosh-soph events, but had their opponents outmaneuvered and piled up the bulk of their scoring in the lower places.

Dale Hanson took the diving event with 109.90. Blair Carstensen tacked on a 7:18.4 victory in the 500 free, and the Cowboys' 400 free relay quartet of Ackley, Volponi, Duffus and Hanson closed out the decisive team win.

For San Ramon, Bill Sweeney was a double winner, as he took the 50 free and 100 back (1:20.5).

CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PLEASANTON

ALAMEDA COUNTY, CALIFORNIA

ORDINANCE NO. 758

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING SECTION 2-2.5 OF ARTICLE 4 (TENTATIVE MAP), CHAPTER 1 (SUBDIVISIONS), TITLE II (ZONING AND DEVELOPMENT) OF THE ORDINANCE CODE OF THE CITY OF PLEASANTON, SAID ORDINANCE BEING AN URGENT MEASURE AND EFFECTIVE IMMEDIATELY.

WHEREAS, SB 977 (Chapter 1536, Gregorio) was enacted into law by the 1973-1974 session of the State Legislature, which consisted of a comprehensive revision of the State Subdivision Map Act; and

WHEREAS, the operative date of that statute is March 1, 1975; and

WHEREAS, the City Council desires that the Planning Commission approve tentative maps unless the matter is appealed to the Council pursuant to law; and

WHEREAS, pursuant to Section 4.55 of Chapter 1536 (Government Code Section 66474.7) it is necessary that if the responsibility in approving tentative maps is delegated to the Planning Commission there shall be a right of appeal to interested persons; and

WHEREAS, it is the Council's desire to continue the current practice of having the Planning Commission approve tentative maps; and

WHEREAS, after the staff makes its review of the new Act and suggested language prepared by the Planning Commission, the City Council shall take under consideration revisions to the appropriate provisions of the Ordinance Code of the City of Pleasanton regulating subdivisions; and

WHEREAS, pursuant to Government Code Section 66474.7 Council desires to assign responsibilities defined under Sections 66473.5, 66474, 66474.1 and 66474.2 to the Planning Commission, said sections reading as follows:

66473.5. No local agency shall approve a map unless the legislative body shall find that the proposed subdivision, together with the provisions for its design and improvement, is consistent with the general plan required by Article 5 (commencing with Section 65300) of Chapter 3 of Division 1 of this title, or any specific plan adopted pursuant to Article 8 (commencing with Section 65450) of Chapter 3 of Division 1 of this title.

66474. Proposed subdivision shall be consistent with a general plan or a specific plan only if the local agency has officially adopted such a plan and the proposed subdivision or land use is compatible with the objectives, policies, general land uses and programs specified in such a plan.

66474. A legislative body of a city or county shall deny approval of a final or tentative subdivision map if it makes any of the following findings:

(a) That the proposed map is not consistent with applicable general and specific plans.

(b) That the design or improvement of the proposed subdivision is not consistent with the applicable general and specific plans.

(c) That the site is not physically suitable for the type of development.

(d) That the site is not physically suitable for the proposed density of development.

(e) That the design of the subdivision or the proposed improvements are likely to cause substantial environmental damage, or substantially and avoidably injure fish or wildlife or their habitat.

(f) That the design of the subdivision or the type of improvements is likely to cause serious public health problems.

(g) That the design of the subdivision or the type of improvements will conflict with easements acquired by the public at large, for access through or use of, property within the proposed subdivision. In this connection, the governing body may approve a map if it finds that alternate easements, for access or for use, will be provided, and that these will be substantially equivalent to those previously acquired by the public. This subsection shall apply only to easements of record or to easements established by judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction and no authority is hereby granted to a legislative body to determine that the public at large has acquired easements for access through or use of property within the proposed subdivision.

66474.1. A legislative body shall not deny approval of a final subdivision map pursuant to Section 66474 if it has previously approved a tentative map for the proposed subdivision and it finds that the final map is in substantial compliance with the previously approved tentative map.

66474.6. The governing body of any local agency shall determine whether the design of a subdivision from the proposed subdivision into an existing community sewer system would result in violation of existing community requirements prescribed by a California regional water quality control board pursuant to Division 7 (commencing with Section 13000) of the Water Code. In the event that the governing body finds that the proposed waste discharge would result in or add to violation of requirements of such board, it may disapprove the tentative map or maps of the subdivision.

NOW THEREFORE, the City Council of the City of Pleasanton does ordain as follows:

Section 1. Section 2-2.50 (Planning Commission Action) of Article 4 (Tentative Map), Chapter 1 (Subdivisions), Title II (Zoning and Development) of the Ordinance Code of the City of Pleasanton is amended to read as follows:

Section 2-2.50 (Planning Commission Action)

(a) The Planning Commission shall assume the responsibilities relating to tentative maps as set forth in Government Code Sections 66473.5, 66474, 66474.1 and 66474.2. The Planning Commission's actions regarding a tentative map shall be reported in writing to the subdivision.

(b) The Planning Commission shall act upon a tentative map within fifty (50) days of its filing.

(c) If any interested person is dissatisfied with any action of the Planning Commission in relation to a tentative map, he may, within fifteen (15) days of such decision, appeal such action to the Council. The Council shall consider the appeal within thirty (30) days. This appeal shall be a public hearing with notice to the subdivision, the Planning Commission and the interested parties and upon conclusion of the appeal hearing, the Council shall, within ten (10) days, render its decision on the appeal. The Council may sustain, modify, reject or reverse the recommendations or rulings of the Planning Commission and may make such findings as are not inconsistent with the provisions of this chapter or the Subdivision Map Act of the State of California.

Section 2. The immediate preservation of the public safety, health and welfare requires the adoption of this ordinance as an urgency measure. The act constituting the need for such action is that Chapter 1536 becomes operative on March 1, 1975. This statute is a comprehensive revision of the Subdivision Map Act and contains numerous procedural changes along with some substantive changes. The State Act is necessary to regulate and control the design and improvement of subdivisions throughout the State of California. Development in California is an ever continuing process and it is necessary for the cities to keep current and implement necessary provisions of the State law. In order that the City's ordinance implementing the State law can take effect and become operative approximately at the same time as the State law, it is necessary that the effective dates coincide. Therefore, this ordinance is declared to be an ordinance adopted as an urgency measure and is to be effective March 1, 1975.

Section 3. This ordinance shall be published once within fifteen days after its adoption in "THE TIMES," a newspaper of general circulation, published in the City of Pleasanton.

INTRODUCED AND ADOPTED at the regular meeting of the City Council of the City of Pleasanton on March 10, 1975 by the following vote:

AYES: Councilmembers Harbilly, LeClaire, Philcox and Mayor Kinney

NOES: None

ABSENT: None

Witness: William H. Edgar, City Clerk

Approved as to form: Kenneth C. Scheidig

More misery for Giants?

EDITOR'S NOTE: Times reporter Al Fischer traveled to Arizona last week, taking time to observe and size up the prospects of the Bay Area's two major league baseball clubs as they train for the upcoming season.

When Horace Stoneham moved the Giants west some 17 years ago confidants warned him there'd be years like 1974.

What they didn't venture was that it might last for several years or until CFLT (Charlie Finley left town).

One need not look too long at the Giants, as this writer did last weekend in Phoenix and Scottsdale, to see that here is a team destined NOT to threaten Los Angeles or Cincinnati in the National League West.

Two areas are almost certainly better than a year ago now that Dave Kingman and Bobby Bonds are gone. There'll be a lot less Giant strikeouts and fewer mental errors. The two categories combined to kill many a Giant rally or ignite one for the opposition last season.

What the Giants have now are a wealth of journeymen ballplayers with great speed, average power, so-so gloves and potentially strong pitching. The latter may be a year away and play the '75 season in Phoenix or Amarillo.

The prime needs right now are a "stopper" on the mound and another power hitter, preferably a third baseman, to partially offset the 40 homers lost when Bonds and Kingman were traded.

Catching chores will be handled by the veteran Dave Rader, a .291 stroker with average defensive capabilities.

He will share the slot with youngster Marc Hill, brought in from the Cardinal chain and considered by some as "the next Johnny Bench."

Making a determined bid for the third spot is catcher infielder and pinchhitter extraordinary Chris Arnold.

The infield is a jigsaw puzzle. Young Gary Thomasson has played most of the time at first base in early practice games but he's expected to give way to smooth swinging Ed Goodson. The latter has now taken to switch hitting.

Second base has been inherited by Derrel Thomas, brought to camp in the trade that sent popular Tito Fuentes to San Diego. Thomas is a speed merchant, a switch hitter but a couple notches below the Joe Morgans of the national pastime.

Shortstop is again in the highly capable hands of Chris Speier. If the Giants don't come up with that third baseman they've been looking for, Speier will not be moved... unless it's to cover the balls deflecting off of Steve Ontiveros' glove. The 22-year old Ontiveros is a fine prospect, a solid 260 or .270 hitter but not best suited for the hot corner.

The infield reserves, Mike Phillips, Bruce Miller and Glen Redmon are mediocre.

But then there's the outfield... the strength of the Giants.

Comebacking Ron Bryant pitched three innings in the game we saw at Scottsdale Saturday. He is visibly out of shape and still prone to wildness. He is trying to make it as a starter again which

The Thunderbirds tied the Canaries, 2-2. Jodi Witt had the Canaries scores. Cathy Colvard and Cathy Searcy struck for the T-Birds. Lynita Sullivan registered seven saves.

The Skylarks beat the San Ramon Cougars, 2-1, on goals by P.J. Moore and Teresa Shilling. Robin Ucker, Kathy Willy, Madolyn Gilman and Cindy Cave played well.

Outstanding players included Cindy Nodlinski, Jodi Lewis, Kris Phillips, Debra Timbrook, Alicia Mobley and Annette Jordan. The Pleasanton Scots blanked the San Ramon Blue Jays, 5-0. Marie Pomplio had three Scott goals. Sherry Monday and Lori Boughn also scored. Top San Ramon players included; Kelly Duane, Sharon Catala and Elizabeth Gilman.

The Dynamites blasted the Concord Wolverets, 4-2, behind Terry Gonsalves' two goals. Shelly Moss and Sheri Snyder also scored. Kim Gorza had five saves. Deanna Smith, Lynette Lescano and Kim Iverson were key players.

The Skylarks dropped a 4-0 decision to the Pleasanton Flyers, despite 10 saves by goal keeper Laura Stevenson. Lisa Plaisted, Mara Larron and Tracey Herlow were top Skylark players.

The San Jose Bobcats crushed the San Ramon Starlings, 9-0. Key SR players included; Jill Darsett, Erin Talbert, Janise Gagin and Kim Gibbons.

The Dublin Chargers beat the San Ramon Sandpipers with overtime penalty kicks, 4-1. Lisa Ruhl scored for San Ramon. Michelle Cavett had eight saves.

In Dublin United Soccer League action, the San Ramon Canaries topped the Rough Bunch, 4-0. Cathy Colvard scored twice for the winners.

Joe Kettwig rushed the 700 mark, but ended just short at 692.

Fanucchi came back in the Men's Classic to roll a 667. Bill Webb followed at 657, and Rene Drumtra, 643.

would give Wes Westrum a rotation of Bryant, Caldwell, Barr and D'Acquisto. If he doesn't, the Count of Montefusco will take his place.

The Giants have an abundance of young arms, such as lefty Pete Falcone, who had his breaking stuff falling off the table Saturday. Frank Riccelli and Ed Halicki.

Randy Moffitt again heads the bullpen crew, backed, but not too strongly, by Gary Lavelle and John Morris.

The longest choices to make the team, in our estimation, are Falcone, infielder Skip James and top catching prospect Gary Alexander.

If the Giants make it to third in the NL-West it'll be a cause for rejoicing. A more realistic order would find the Giants finishing behind LA, Cincy and Houston.

SUE JOHNSON
Sitting among her "bloomers"

Plantie shop blooms at gingham corner

"Planties and Bloomers," Planties and Bloomers!

A catchy name, Planties and Bloomers, it gets a variety of reaction and is the name of the new plant shop now open, owned and operated by Sue Johnson of Pleasanton.

The shop, located in a section of Gingham Corner Neal and Main Streets, is a compliment to the already popular business. The two businesses will operate as a team with plants and flowers handled by Sue and containers readily available through the Gingham Corner.

Sue will feature blooming as well as regular plants. Included with the plants purchased from her shop will be instructions on how to care for the plants, that is, correct exposure, watering, feeding, etc.

Other services Sue will offer her patrons are: coming into the home to see what type of plant would be best suited for the environment; transplanting plants already in the home that may be root bound or any newly purchased plants; will try to locate "that plant you always wanted, but couldn't find"; bulbs will be available for purchase and she will feature a flower for each holiday.

Sue will also offer the service of rentals of plants for parties, openings, social activities, etc. Sue hopes to be able to have soil, gravel and sand for sale for those who just may need a small portion of each.

Going into a business of her own has always been a "dream" of Sue's. The plant business seemed to be her answer as she has a "natural green thumb" and has done, extensive study on many plants, and it also took care of the "jungle of plants" she had in her home. Her background in merchandising will also be of great service to her.

The family was all for Sue going into the business and they have all helped her get established. Her husband Tom, has built planters and display containers in the shop for her. Her children, Kevin, a freshman at Amador High School, Kit, a seventh grader at Pleasanton School and Cherie, fourth grader at Valley View, all have ideas they would like to see their mother incorporate into the business. One of those ideas is a sidewalk flower stand such as seen in San Francisco.

Sue has been an active member with the Pleasanton Junior Women's Club; team mother for Little League; worked with girls' soccer, powder puffs and is active with the Amador Boosters Club.

to assist former servicemen in their college careers.

There are openings in all the Valley campus day classes and in most of the evening classes scheduled. The new campus will offer classes in art, biology, business, chemistry, data processing, early childhood and development, ecology, economics, English, health, history, humanities, library skills, mathematics, philosophy, physical education, political science, psychology, recreation, sociology, Spanish and speech.

General late registration will be held 8:30 a.m. to noon Saturday, March 29, for those who can't make the Friday signups or who wish to take classes at the Hayward campus.

Chabot registration opens tomorrow

LIVERMORE — Valley residents may sign up for Chabot College courses at a special evening registration Friday, Feb. 28 at the new campus.

Chabot's "Valley Campus" opens officially Monday, March 31, for the spring quarter. Registration is now being taken at the main Hayward campus for courses to be offered at all campuses.

The Valley's own branch of Chabot is located at 3033 Collier Canyon Road, not far from the freeway north of the airport.

Registration hours are 5 to 8 p.m. on the one date only.

Adult residents of Livermore, Pleasanton and Dublin are eligible to attend Chabot with no tuition charge or application fee. Morning, afternoon, pre-dinnertime and evening courses are scheduled for the convenience of everyone.

Students will be able to register March 28 not only for the many classes to be offered at the Livermore campus, but also for those scheduled during evening hours at Granada, Amador and Dublin High Schools.

Counselors will be available to help students plan their programs and veterans' representatives will be present

When you give time, you give a part of life itself.

The time you give the people you love may be the most precious gift of your love's giving, for it is the very fabric of life. Yet time given with love is time enriched as much for the giver as for the happy recipient of the gift. To give with love, ladies' Omega bracelet watches.

LARPD weaving class

She weaves ancient art into city life

LIVERMORE — Weaving is the most ancient of domestic arts.

It's not difficult or expensive to weave some gorgeous looking items that can look every bit as exotic as the fabrics that come out of South American and Asia Minor. Bonnie Toy will show you how.

Bonnie starts with a handmade loom made from a picture frame and some jewels. A $3 contribution from each weaving student buys enough colorful yarn for all the projects her students will do during the course.

Bonnie is an expert weaver herself and teaches weaving for the Livermore Area Recreation and Park District (LARPD). A new course will be starting April 17, with registration April 8 at the Recreation Center, Eighth and H Streets.

The beginning weaving class is limited to narrow pieces of fabric that can be woven on a loom a foot or two wide. The fabric can be made into wall hangings, place mats, rugs, belts and other unique objects.

"A loom," says Bonnie, "is basically a way of providing tension to stretch the threads; a frame to hold the warp, the vertical threads through which the weft, the horizontal threads, are woven."

Sounds simple and it is, Bonnie will assure the beginner as she reads out a wealth of jewel-colored woven samples of every design and texture.

After a few lessons, her students are contentedly sliding the shuttle back and forth, making designs they never thought possible for a beginner to attempt.

Mrs. Toy has been a weaver since she took lessons eight years ago from local weaver Wilma Meyer. She holds a bachelor's degree in anthropology and art from Stanford University and worked with Evelyn DeGraw at the University of Kansas, which has the best weaving department in the country.

She is most interested in learning all she can about various weaving techniques, and passing her expertise on to the students.

Bonnie Toy shows students what they can make in weaving class.
